Those Forced to Retire At 64 Express Views On Action of Board

Teachers forced from the classroom when Pottstown school board passed a 64-year retirement plan the past year praised the revocation of the rule last night.

The new school board, by a four Republican to three Democratic vote Monday night abrogated the 64-year plan and extended the teaching age to 70 years.

The change in the retirement program was one of the campaign pledges of GOP directors, three of whom, William H. Yohn, Carl M. Binder and Charles L. Rohland, were elected this past November.

William H. S. Dillman, vocational school teacher, who was forced to retire when the 1951 board installed the 64-year plan said, "I think the change to a 70-year retirement plan for the teachers who want to work after they pass 64 years is good."

"I HAVE no ill feeling toward anyone. I am willing to forget about the past as long as the teachers of the future will be treated squarely."

"I'm just enjoying myself, working around the yard and taking life easy. I think if a teacher wants to and feels as though he is fit and able to continue teaching past the age of 64, he should be allowed to do so. Some people are older at 60 than other people are at 70."

Dillman worked for a few months during the winter for the James H. Nottle Auto Parts company, 416 Chestnut street. He explained, "I wasn't quite up to par so I quit."

Harry L. Smith, Pottstown Senior High school principal, said, "The change will help the teachers now in school and I've always been for the teachers and the youngsters."

"I have no ill feeling. It seems the action came a bit late for some of us, but I'm not complaining."

SMITH is employed as a sales representative for C. J. Keiser Electrical appliance company, 22 North Washington street.

He added, "I like my new work very much. It has been a rather pleasant experience. I've dealt" (Continued on Page Six)

Aaron Urr, 76, Borough Hermit, Dies in Hospital

Aaron Urr, 76-year-old hermit, died in Pottstown hospital yesterday morning of congestive heart failure.

He had been admitted to the hospital on July 16.

A well-known resident of the borough for the past 25 years, Urr migrated to the United States from Hungary at an early age, leaving behind a son and wife. His brother, Gabor, who accompanied him, died when he was hit by a car on High street in 1945.

Both brothers worked for a time in a Phoenixville barber shop before coming to Pottstown. Urr, with his tattered clothes and full beard, was a familiar figure as he hiked along the borough streets.

URR LIVED a secluded existence, living in a shack south of West High street, between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Reading company tracks, and that is what they will tell near the Pottstown Metal Welding company.

Hearing Got Hotter and Hotter

"You have prejudged this case," shouts Pottstown Attorney Louis Sager (right) to John J. Dusco, vice president of Douglass township (Berks county) school board, which heard further testimony yesterday on cruelty charges against Mrs. Mary H. Trethewey, a teacher of First and Second graders in Colebrookdale school, where the hearing was held. Dusco replies, "That's right . . . because I've gone into all of this long before." Sager is representing parents bringing the charges. Looking in at the window is Mrs. Esther Plank, who became a witness later. The public was barred. Sager holds a handkerchief needed for brow-mopping during the steamy session.

There are few things more enjoyable on a warm summer night than reclining on a lawn or sitting in a deck chair and enjoying a concert of classical, popular and jazz music played and sung by the Pottstown band and Glee club.

Ask the approximately 100 adults who did just that last night on the east lawn of the Rupert school, Mt. Vernon and South streets, or the many more who listened in their back yards or on porches and that is what they will tell near the Pottstown Metal Welding company.

Motorist Admits Fault in Crash

A Boyertown motorist reported to Pottstown police yesterday after he struck the rear of another car. "It was all my fault," Richard Custer, 137 South Washington street, Boyertown, was driving his sedan north on Charlotte street when he struck the rear of a coupe operated by Frederick D. Kern, 805 Spruce street, at the intersection of Oak street.

Kern told police that he was driving north on Charlotte street and that when he approached Oak street he slowed down and his car was struck in the rear by Custer's auto.

The trunk and rear bumper on Kern's car were damaged and the entire front of Custer's car was pushed in. Custer's car was towed to Pottstown Auto Refinishing company.

To the inveterate cigar smoker, yesterday was a catastrophe. The Office of Price Stabilization's suspension of the cigar ceiling caught Lawrence A. Romich, 414 May street, a stogie burner for 25 years, in pensive objection.

Reflecting the plight of a good five-cent cigar he blows out the match with a puff of smoke. At his bench in the white metal cleaning department of the Doehler-Jarvis corporation, Romich has kept a steady tobacco fire perfuming his nostrils.

With the gusto of a man about to lose a cherished friend Romich takes a lung-stinging drag on one of the hundreds of five-centers he has smoked in the past quarter century. Between Christmas and New Year he burns a box of 50 stogies.

Romich abhors the practical joker and his displeasure is doubled when a good five-cent cigar blows up in a man's face—the result of a prankster's firecracker. Why, that fire cracker wasted a dozen satisfying puffs of smoke!

Girl Cries After She Tells School Board of Mistreatment in Class

By MERCURY STAFF WRITER FRED C. SELBY

A tearful little blue-eyed girl proved yesterday to be a stronger witness than any of the angry adults called to testify against Mrs. Mary H. Trethewey, Pottstown area teacher accused of cruelty to First and Second grade pupils.

The prosecution, which began its case the past July 1, completed its case during a 4½-hour session held in the Colebrookdale school of Douglass township, Berks county. Mrs. Trethewey teaches there.

The defense is expected to present its case today. After that, the school board will consider the testimony and either acquit or convict Mrs. Trethewey of the charge. If she is convicted, she would be dismissed.

The first official indication of what the verdict might be came yesterday, when John J. Dusco, vice president of the board, vigorously expressed the opinion that the charges against Mrs. Trethewey were unfounded and malicious.

Furthermore, Dusco said, he believed that at least two more of the four board members hearing the case have the same opinion that he has.

Mrs. Trethewey, a teacher for nearly 25 years, was calm, confident-looking and silent during the session. Her most noticeable mannerism was turning frequently toward the press desks to make sure a reporter had caught a point of testimony in her favor.

THE ATTORNEY representing the angry parents, Louis Sager, won a technical victory at the outset yesterday, when Ralph C. Body, Boyertown, school board solicitor, agreed with Sager's contention that the board should be prosecutor.

But the basic situation remained the same as it was the past July 1. Sager continued to act as prosecutor. Body remained as referee of the numerous disputes between Sager and M. Bernard Hoffman, Reading, attorney for Mrs. Trethewey.

With the exception of Dusco's outburst, the board again took little active part in the case. The lone absentee board member again was Clyde P. Sites, Douglassville RD 1.

The little star witness for the prosecution was 9-year-old Anna Pennypacker, who came into the classroom where the hearing was held immediately after her mother, Mrs. Mary Pennypacker, Boyertown RD 2, had finished making charges that brought her into a loud, bitter wrangle with Hoffman.

Mrs. Pennypacker said Mrs. Trethewey pinched her daughter hard enough to make her black and blue, and lifted up her daughter's dress to show that her clothing was not clean.

THE BROWN-HAIRED, blue-eyed child, dressed in a new-looking powder-blue dress, walked almost gaily into the hot room. She smiled at her mother, who still was almost in tears from her argument with Hoffman.

Sager asked her whether she'd ever had trouble with Mrs. Trethewey when she was in her First and Second grade classes in 1949-51.

"She pulled my hair," the child began slowly and thoughtfully. "And she pinched me, and she shook me up and down in the chair."

How often did this happen? "A lotta times."

Sager held up ten fingers. "That a lot?" he asked her. She said yes. He held up five fingers. "Is that a lot?"

Two persons traveling in the east-moving car were killed. They said yes. He held up five fingers. "Is that a lot?" (Continued on Page Six)

The accident occurred around 2 o'clock (Pottstown time) on the concrete, two-lane highway. The cars, which collided and side-swiped, were found by police in the center of the road. There were no eye-witnesses.

Little Stephen Cohen, three and one-half-year-old cancer victim of better Springs RD 1, died at home at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Cohen, the cancer of his kidneys was incurable and the youngster had but two or three months to live.

Look out, Pardner! Cowboy Show's Comin' Tomorrow

Pottstown youngsters will strap on six-shooters, don 10-gallon hats, at rakish angles and tie brightly-colored kerchiefs in loose knots about their necks tomorrow.

The occasion will be the annual cowboy show at the borough's playgrounds.

Sheriffs, desperadoes and just plain cowboys will wear their western-best for the big round-up at the recreation areas.

This week has been designated cowboy week by the playgrounds. Children are working on crafts with a cowboy theme every day in addition to running the cowboy costume show.

They are coloring outline books of cowboy figures and making western heroes out of construction paper. Some of the children have been making cowboy figures out of the heavy paper with movable arms and legs.

AT HILLCREST playground, the children are going to miss one of their new friends.

Maria Schwegmann has been visiting in Pottstown for the past week and early this week she reported to running the cowboy costume show.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

Here Rudolph A. Matern, architect of 90 04 161st St., Jamaica 2, N. Y., authority on small house design, has planned a house which can be built at the same cost with or without basement. Approximately 220 square feet of space can be added above ground for the cost of a cellar.

Architect Matern makes use of this difference by adding a wing to accommodate the heater room and a good sized multi-use room separated from the living room by a folding partition. With an added barbecue fireplace this space can be used for a recreation room, dining room, or closed off for a fourth bedroom. Plan 9275 showing the multi-use room and laundry space adjoining the kitchen, covers an area of 1283 square feet. The rest of this house beyond the cutaway remains the same as shown in Plan 9274 at the left, which covers 1066 square feet.

(Further information and plans can be obtained from the architect named above)

A BASEMENT usually provides more storage space than the average family needs. Modern insulation and radiant heat in floors have made basements unnecessary. And many women want laundry equipment on the main floor to save stair climbing. So when a house is built without a basement, some additional space must be provided, enlarging the house. This cuts down the cost saving in building without a basement. On a fixed budget, how far can you go in this choice?

Former Communist, Bella Dodd, Received Into Catholic Faith

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP) — Bella V. Dodd, once the foremost woman Communist party leader in New York state, has been received into the Roman Catholic faith.

She was baptized on April 8 in St. Patrick's cathedral by Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, Roman Catholic sources said today.

Dr. Dodd, an attorney and former legislative representative of the left-wing teachers union, was expelled from the State Communist party in June, 1949, during the trial of the 11 top Communist leaders.

The party accused her of "conduct or actions detrimental to the working class and the nation as well as the interests of the party."

A former teacher of political science at Hunter college, Dr. Dodd became a party member in 1944.

Bishop Sheen, who heads the Catholic Church Society for the Propagation of the Faith in the United States, gave religious instructions to two other well-known former Communists who embraced the Catholic faith. They were Louis F. Budenz, former managing editor of the Communist Party's "Daily Worker" newspaper, and Elizabeth Bentley, self-styled as the "war Soviet spy ring courier."

Warm in Winter... Cool in Summer!

The saying "Snug as a bug in a rug" surely fits the modern Concrete Masonry home. The reason is that Vibracrete Masonry provides natural large areas of dead air space between outer and inner wall surfaces — this is one of the most effective of all types of insulation.

Vibracrete Concrete Masonry homes and other structures have for years been in service in all climates—tropical, temperate, America, the Philippines—as well as in every part of the United States. Neither sun, nor wind, nor rain, nor cold affects concrete. It never rots but becomes stronger with age.

Council Deluged By Water Complaints

Spring City borough council was almost flooded with water complaints at its monthly meeting Tuesday night.

In addition to the matter of Schuylkill canal drainage the council heard complaints from private property owners.

Councilman Kenneth Kothmel, chairman of a committee working on the matter of eliminating the stagnant condition of the old canal, gave report from his committee on a meeting with a representative of the State Department of Forests and Waters and a Pennsylvania Railroad representative.

In the report council was advised the railroad is willing to open the tunnel under its tracks in order to let the water flow through two 30-inch pipes that would carry it to the river.

ACCORDING to the report the state representative said drainage is also necessary to carry off surplus water from Goose Run flowing into the canal.

The state man suggested deeding the canal to the borough, so the borough would have legal right to remedy the matter as it sees fit. He said the state will pay for work on private property. Some of the pipe which would have to be moved is on property belonging to Spring City Bleach and Dye works.

Augmenting the report, Rothmel reported his committee will meet with A. J. Purring, solicitor for the State Department of Forests and Waters, this morning, to attempt to reach an amicable solution.

Sisters Hold Lawn Farewell Luncheon

The Tyson sisters of Spring City entertained a group of guests at a farewell party for Twila Tyson, who is planning to enter Bible school at Grantham this fall.

Miss Tyson will finish her junior and senior years of high school at Grantham. She attended Spring City High school during the past two years.

The sisters served a cafeteria-style lunch on the lawn and supervised games and a group sing.

Cena Tyson aided her sister as hostess.

Others attending were Carolyn Swartz, Beatrice Benner, Lillian Swartz, Janet and Freda Bechtel, Ruth Mae Begle and Mildred Swartz.

Delour Trouble Slight For Motorists in State

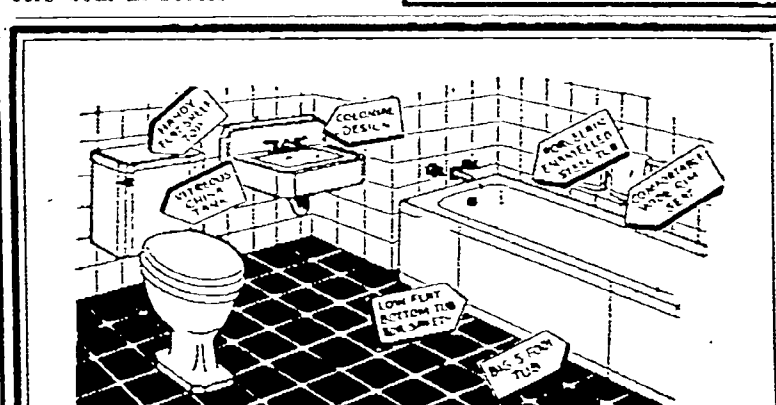

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5 (AP)—Motorists touring Pennsylvania this summer are not expected to have too many encounters with troublesome delour signs.

A department of Highways survey shows that although there are 57 major construction projects underway a driver can cross the State from east to west or north to south without running into a delour sign.

Two of the main east-west routes, US 30 and 422, and three north-south arteries, US 11, 309, and 611, are entirely clear of repair work, the department said.

GLEN MOORE

Mrs. Francis Mozer, corr. Richard Keizer, 6-1. Phone Pottstown 1473-J

Morning worship at Glen Moore Methodist church featured an anthem by the Girl's choir, "Jesus Kneel Beside Me" and a Junior sermon on the subject of adding the element of thoughtfulness to our life. It was an object lesson using a filled fountain pen and an empty one. The sermon "Time Out" was on the subject of taking time out from the routine of life to pray and think about God. A program of family devotions, personal prayer, Bible reading, and religious meditation make an all around plan for the "Time Out" periods.

Ushers were Tom Miller Jr., Joe Mason Jr. and Grier Miller Jr. and property by planting shrubbery around the church building.

Miss Ann Frazier, of Jamaica, N. Y., and Miss Lucille Ribiero, of Manhattan, are vacationing at West Africa, establishing the fact the house of Mrs. G. W. Bare. It had crossed the Atlantic.

Elks Win, 17-2, in State Tourney
UAW Beats St. John's, 5-3, for 9th Victory

The short-fused Montgomery Elks exploded again last night in the Pennsylvania NBC Tourney at Sunbury, only this time not over an official decision.

ELKS-ALL-STAR GAME POSTPONEMENT ASKED

The Montgomery Elks were placed in an awkward position last night after winning their game with Forest Hill in the State tournament at Sunbury.

Manager Bill Barber was notified that his team must play again tonight or forfeit its right to continue in the tournament.

Barber and his team returned to Pottstown late last night and told The Mercury that he will request City league director, Bill Kauler to postpone the All-Star game to a later date.

Just what Kauler's decision on the matter will be was not known last night.

STATE BASEBALL commissioner, Bill Bender tried to rearrange the tournament schedule to permit the Elks to keep their local commitment, but none of the other teams in the tourney was able to take the Elks place.

The City-Industrial league champions are scheduled to play Muncy, a 1-0 winner over Harrisburg, last night.

Forest Hill was the only team to play in the first round of the tourney, walking once and driving home a run.

Bob Mauger also chipped in with three singles in succession before Hill relief chucker Ned Kaufman got his number and retired him easily in his last two appearances.

The victors did the brunt of their scoring in the first three frames, scoring in a 4-5-3 block. After batting 21 men in the first three frames, only seven went up in the fourth and fifth.

However the Elks erupted for a single count in the sixth on a hit and then batted around spot in the playoffs. That first for four more in the last inning, game will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

In the first, a two-out single by Dave Ricketts, an error in right, another kick on the third baseman, Mauger's single and the first of Dick R's two three-baggers, along with a throwing error on the catcher brought in four rallies.

Len Ricketts led off the second by being hit by a pitched ball with one down. He and four other runners crossed then as John Hallman doubled, Barber singled and the catcher and rightfielder came with two more run-scoring miscues.

Wils Kulp, L. Hallman and L. Ricketts singled to lead off the third, with runs scoring on the latter's hit, a throw by the catcher that hit batter John Hallman's head, and the winning hurler's subsequent rolled to third.

The Hills broke the scoring ice that had them frozen in frames in the fourth. Jack Bramhall boarded on fielder's choice that made the second out and came all the way around as Tom Checchi singled on a bad-hop smash over Mauger's head at third and Jim Howard, subbing in left, left the ball roll through.

HALLMAN GOT Kay Crone to ground to Dave Ricketts, playing his first game at the initial sack, to snuff the rally with Checchi on third.

Dave came all the way around in the sixth, singling, stealing two bases, and counting on a wild pitch.

Dick R. tripled to head the seventh, and Kulp doubled to score him. L. Hallman walked and Sus Brown singled for another run, and they both came across as FH keystone Jack Piefer made two uniform by bunting out a pair of UAW had its hands full to squeeze out a 5-3 victory over seventh-place St. John's in the City-Industrial league last night at Franklin Field.

Although outfit five to four, UAW took advantage of five St. John's errors to win its ninth victory of the campaign and move into second place, a half game ahead of Flagg.

The winners scored a pair of runs in the fourth inning to break a 2-3 tie and then behind the pitching of Jim Hallman held off the losers who made mild threats in the sixth and seventh.

Manager Chick Hawk opened the top of the fifth by bouncing a hard grounder to Mike Leck at shortstop who had trouble with his throw, Hawk was safe on the play and moved to second when Bill Harner walked.

A NICE PLAY on Ed Kovach's bounce by the Saints' pitcher, Mit Leck, erased Hawk at third. A double play almost resulted when Dave Suchoza pegged to Dave Staverosky at first to try and get Kovach.

But Staverosky let the throw go through and Harner went to third and Kovach to second. After Joe Ruvak popped up, Ed Hallman laced a hard grounder that bounced off Hawk's leg at shortstop, scoring both Harner and Kovach.

Hallman also received credit for the Workers' only other RBI in the third inning on a similar play.

With the same Harner and Kovach on second and third via infield errors, Hallman bounced a hit to deep short. He had Leck's throw beat for a hit, scoring Harner, but the low peg scooped past Staverosky, and Kovach also came home.

JIM HALLMAN got himself in trouble in the bottom of the third by walking Mit Leck and hitting Mike Hedgus. Mike Leck drove his brother home with a single by first base, and Staverosky's single over second sent Hedgus across, after the St. John's left fielder had moved to third on a wild pitch.

It is hard to believe, but the Saints reached Hallman for another run in the fourth although the UAW leftlander recorded three strikeouts, did not give up a hit, a walk, or hit a batter.

THE NOVELTY occurred when Merl Renninger swung at a third strike that slipped by Catcher Bob Stauffer. Stauffer retrieved the ball and threw high to first and Renninger was on.

Suchoza's sacrifice brought Stan Wayock in from third to make the assist and Renninger raced all the way around to the uncovered hot corner.

McCrudden next up also went down swinging, but again Stauffer failed to hold the ball and had to make a play at first to retire the batter.

Renninger raced for home and beat First Baseman Ruvak's return throw to Stauffer.

Throwing the 'Right' Way

This pair of righthanded throwers, Ray Slawewski, (left) and Mike Kriczky, (right) will be mound opponents today in the Eastern All-Star game of the American Legion junior program. The game will be played at 1:30 p. m. at Shibe Park, Philadelphia. Kriczky pitched for Amole Post and Slawewski was the Roversford Legion's top hurler.

Kriczky, Slawewski Play in 'Star Game

Two of this area's most talented young pitchers will perform amid big-league atmosphere today at Philadelphia's Shibe Park.

Mike Kriczky and Ray Slawewski will be on opposing teams in the American Legion's junior Eastern All-Star game beginning at 1:30 this afternoon.

Both turned in outstanding performances during the past season on the Phillies squad with Slawewski.

Kriczky compiled an enviable pitching and hitting record with the Amole Post juniors this past season. He has been keeping loose with daily workouts and stands a good chance of being named starting pitcher for the Athletics squad.

Slawewski, who was top hurler for the Roversford Legion juniors will work for the Phillies in today's game.

Each squad has four pitchers, with each youth expected to get a chance to show his stuff.

ADMISSION to the game is free with tickets that may be secured at the Amole Post home. Children must be accompanied by an adult to be admitted.

Two other boys, familiar to local Legion baseball fans, who will play in the game are George Waitis, Narberth, and Joseph Miale, of Lansdale. They will be at the Moose at 5:30 o'clock.

MOOSE PLAYS AWAY The Moose softball team of the City Softball League will play Pleasantville at Pleasantville tonight. All players are asked to be at the Moose at 5:30 o'clock.

INDIANS BEAT STEELERS The Manatwary Indians belted out a 13-1 decision over the Bethlehem Steelers last night at Far fields.

ELKS WIN, 9-3 Seven runs in the fourth inning brought the Elks Kne-Hi team from behind to defeat Berman last night, 9-3.

Ira Gruber Qualifies for U. S. Amateur

Ira Gruber qualified for the National Amateur Golf tournament yesterday by scoring a 56-hole total of 150 at the Trenton Country club, N. J.

He will be one of the two amateur golfers from the Philadelphia area to play in the national tournament being held Aug. 18-23 in Seattle, Wash.

His 78-72 was good enough to give him a tie for second place, but the other player with 150 decided against a playoff because he will be unable to make the long cross-country jaunt.

Gruber came through with a terrific 30-foot putt for a birdie on the 18th hole of his second round to earn the tie. At the time the pressure was really on because he had no idea the other contestant planned to drop out.

The Seattle tournament will be entirely match play with those who are not eliminated playing 36-holes a day. The tourney runs for six days which means a real grind for those who reach the late rounds.

LAST SATURDAY Gruber led qualifiers in the Brookside club tournament, coming through with a 76 despite a violent rain storm that struck while he was playing.

The other amateur to represent the Philadelphia district will be a Trenton Country club member, Dr. Tomec, who tabulated the best score yesterday.

MANAGERS TO MEET A meeting for managers of the City-Industrial league will be held in the Junior High school gymnasium immediately after Thursday night's game. If it rains, the meeting will be held at 7:15 o'clock Thursday night in borough hall.

SS Teams Again Play to Tie

For the second game in a row, Transfiguration and Cedarville battled to a tie last night to again delay the start of playoff activities in the Sunday School league.

Transfiguration came up with three runs in the top of the seventh inning to knot the count at 7-7. On Monday night the two teams fought to a 5-5 draw, as Cedarville scored three in the seventh inning to send the game into extra innings.

The playoffs will now begin Thursday. Not until these two teams complete their game can pairings be made of the four first division clubs.

Transfiguration's important rally came as Joe Hurter led off with a walk. Bruce Bauer followed with a free ticket but was out a moment later on Ted Feroe's force play at second. Doug Moser, then connected for his third hit of the night to score both Hurter and Feroe.

MOSER TOOK second on the throw in and scored as Lefty Peterson dropped a single over second.

Transfiguration opened the score in the first inning on some runs in the fifth, but Transfiguration then came back with its seventh-inning rally.

Wayne Fuller, Franny Wampler, Dick Goss and Bill Jones all had a pair of hits for Cedarville. Next to Moser with his three hits was Peterson with two for Transfiguration.

Transfiguration scored an other run in the third on Ed Miller's walk and Peterson's triple. Cedarville got busy with its bats and pushed over three runs on four hits in the bottom of the third.

Transfiguration again took the lead in the second with a pair of runs scored on no hits. A walk to Tony Miller, Joe Hurter's grounder that was thrown away by the shortstop, and a dropped line drive in the outfield, accounted for the scoring.

After Transfiguration scored an other run in the third on Ed Miller's walk and Peterson's triple, Cedarville got busy with its bats and pushed over three runs on four hits in the bottom of the third.

IT APPEARED that Cedarville had the win tucked away after bunting five more hits for three and Feroe.

Shantz Wins No. 20

The victory marked Shantz' first against the Sox this season. He now has beaten every club in the American League at least once. It also marked little Bobby's 21st complete game in 23 starts this season. He has lost only three.

NATIONAL

After rain threatened to wash out the game, the A's proceeded to chalk up their first run in the opening frame on a walk, a stolen base and the first of three doubles by Ferris Fain, the American League leading batter.

The A's made it 3 to 0 in the third.

The sellout crowd of 35,673 groaned as White hit his eighth homer of the campaign into the upper deck of the left field stands in the fifth.

The A's fourth run was scored in the fifth on a double to right by Dave Philley and a single by Pete Suder. The final Philadelphia tally came in the sixth with the help of Fain's third double.

Boston scored their second marker in the sixth and their final in the eighth.

In the dressing room later, Shantz in typical modest fashion claimed the credit for the win should go to his batterymate Joe Astroth.

Yanks Edge Sens
WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—The New York Yankees edged Washington, 3-2, tonight in a game called at the end of seven innings because of rain. Allie Reynolds, slammed for nine hits but effective in the clutch, won his 13th decision at the expense of ex-Yankee Frank Shea.

Indians Divide
CHICAGO, Aug. 5 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians tonight divided a double header with the Chicago White Sox before 40,909, largest night crowd of the season, but lost ground to the New York Yankees in the American League pennant.

The Indians, winning the two-night contest, 6-0, but losing the night game, 6-3, dropped four full games behind the Yankees, who conquered Washington, 3-2.

Cain Halts Tigers
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 5 (AP)—Bobby Cain gained his first victory since June 27 tonight as he pitched the St. Louis Browns to a 5-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Bobby Young drove in four of the Browns' runs with a pair of bases-loaded singles.

Giants Win Marathon
NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—Don Mueller's infield hit scored Jim Rhodes all the way from second base in the 15th inning of a 4-3 marathon tonight to give the New York Giants a 7-6 win over Brooklyn, slaying the Dodgers' National League lead to 5½ games.

Mueller bounced a high chop to the mound with Rhodes on second and two out. When Chris Van Cuyk threw to first too late to get Mueller, Rhodes kept right on going from second and scored standing up with the winning run.

Cards Down Bucs
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5 (AP)—Del Rice's long fly with the bases loaded in the 12th inning scored Solly Hemus to give the sizzling St. Louis Cardinals a 4 to 3 win tonight over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

1st for Roger
CINCINNATI, Aug. 5 (AP)—Southpaw Ken Raffensberger scattered seven hits as the Cincinnati Reds took a 4-0 shutout over the Chicago Cubs in the first of a two-game series here tonight. It was Rogers "Rajah" Hornsby's first night as new Redleg pilot; succeeding Luke Sewell who recently resigned. Warren Hacker was the losing pitcher.

Feminine Folly—
Second 'Puff' Derby
Planned at Sanatoga

A general opinion poll would probably reveal that most men feel all women drivers should be confined to an arena and let the "survival of the fittest" principle prevail.

Promoter George Marshman has arranged this male motorists' Eutopia on a minor scale by presenting his second Powder Puff Derby at Sanatoga Speedway tonight.

The wives of several of the "check car" drivers will be racing toward the checkered flag, trying to qualify for a future "for winners only" derby.

A mystery driver operating under the name of "Susie-Q" will try to prove her skill against Joan Kirk, Grace Mariani, Helen Reinhardt, Helen Correll and Helen Gregory. To date "Susie-Q" has never been behind the wheel of a stock car.

Right Off Campus

ANOTHER FEATURE will be a match race between Red Lesh and Harry Moore that was postponed from last week due to motor trouble in Moore's car. Speculation as to the winner seems to be even for both drivers.

Tony Louis of Willow Grove, the past Saturday night's winner, hopes to win the feature event putting him on an even rating with Red Lesh. Tony is driving very hard, combined with a good car and able pit crew, which makes him a favorite for top money.

"Tryin' Jimmy Ryan" is rarin' to go, proving to drivers and fans he is not slipping but getting in shape for feature wins in the future.

Several new cars from other clubs have been appearing at each race meet promoting good will among racing clubs and drivers.

A full program of thrills, spills and chills will get under way at 8 p. m.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A POLISH journalist, back in Warsaw after a brief journey to Moscow, was asked, "Well, is the Soviet really in such wonderful shape? Does the subway now extend sixty miles? Is every worker living in a new house with radio and air-conditioning? Is there a pile of atom bombs in the Kremlin? Are the farmers all happy and prosperous?" "Yes, yes," agreed the journalist. "All these things I saw with my own eyes."

An old graybeard then asked, "And where is your companion Ignace? Why did he not return with you from Moscow?" "Alas," sighed the journalist, "Ignace is in a slave labor camp in Siberia. Unfortunately he did not seem to see all these things!"

The absent-minded professor was dining at the dean's house. Somebody asked, "Professor, will you pass the nuts?" "I suppose so," said the professor sadly, "but I really ought to flunk the lot of them!"

RAIN TOO LIGHT TO HELP CROPS

Scattered Showers Fail To Alleviate Drought In New England, South

By The Associated Press

The people of the drought areas in New England and the South looked skyward for a sign of rain Tuesday without avail.

Nature seemed bent on teasing instead of appeasing. She produced some showers, but they were widely scattered and too light to help the crops or to soak tinder-dry woodlands.

The drought which began in mid-June has destroyed more than a half billion dollars worth of corn, tobacco, cotton and vegetable crops in the Southeast and has burned pastures so dry that farmers have dunned their beef cattle on the market by the thousands to keep from starving.

In the Northeast, the danger of serious forest fires mounted, and heavy crop losses increased.

AGRICULTURE department officials were in Atlanta, Ga., Wednesday and Thursday to discuss ways of getting immediate disaster loans to farmers of eight drought-stricken southern States.

So far all or large parts of 12 States have been designated disaster areas by the Government. This permits farmers who suffer substantial losses to obtain quick credit loans from the Farmers Home Administration.

In Washington, Agriculture department officials said they are considering adding several other States to the disaster list. They also said they are considering giving farmers financial aid in the transportation of feed from areas of plenty to drought areas.

The Interstate Commerce commission has authorized cut-rate railway transportation rates on hay shipped into most of the stricken southeastern States, but railroads said Tuesday they didn't plan to go along.

The Western Traffic association, an organization representing 47 railroads operating west of the Mississippi river, issued a statement in Chicago saying it was "unable to refuse." It said: "Rates on hay already are on a low basis."

Hiroshima Marks 7th Anniversary of Atom Bomb Blast

HIROSHIMA, Japan, Wednesday, Aug. 6 (P)—It is 8:10 a. m. in Hiroshima.

At this very instant, just seven years ago, a fire brighter than the sun leaped down from the sky and Hiroshima was crushed under the hammer-blow of the atomic bomb.

This morning the survivors of that awful day met silently to pray for the souls of the thousands who died then.

At the place marking the center of the blast, Mayor Shinzo Hamai bowed low to the new memorial erected by the people of Hiroshima.

THE MEMORIAL is a replica, much enlarged, of a primitive clay doll.

It is the kind of doll that the ancient Japanese, when they abandoned human sacrifice, placed in the tombs of their dead as a token of sacrifice and respect from the living.

The sculptor has carved 14 simple Japanese characters, which in English means: "Sleep quietly. The mistake will not be repeated."

Japanese in Hiroshima are quick to say that the "mistake" was not the atomic bombing, but the launching of the Pacific war by Japan.

MAJOR HAMAI placed a scroll of more than 200,000 names of the dead in a crypt under the memorial.

Then the mayor read his statement on the anniversary:

"We realize that our mortal wounds are too deep to be relieved and that the (Japanese war) blunder committed by man was of a grave nature, and the thought makes our hearts ache anew."

MORE POTESTS FIRED AT RUSSIA

Sweden Will Send To UN Account of How 2 Planes Were Shot

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 5 (P)—Sweden fired two more strong protests at Russia today and said she would send to the United Nations a full account of her quarrel with the Soviets over the shooting down of two unarmed Swedish planes the past June.

Swedish Foreign Minister Oesten Unden summoned the Soviet ambassador, Rear Adm. Constantine Rodionov, and handed him two notes, one of which asked Moscow to order its diplomats here to stop spying on Swedish military establishments.

In the fifth of a series of protests over the plane shootings, Sweden expressed "surprise and regret" at Russia's refusal to let the International Court of Justice at The Hague pass on Swedish charges that the aircraft were downed over international waters.

The note, denying emphatically again that Swedish fliers fired first at Russian planes or were over Soviet territory, served notice that the Swedes "reserve their full right to revert to the matter in the form and at the time they will find suitable."

THIS was interpreted in diplomatic circles as firm evidence of Sweden's intention to present the matter of the United Nations General Assembly. At stake, in the Swedish view, is freedom from Russian domination of the Baltic sea where the planes were lost.

After Rodionov's call, the Swedish Foreign office announced that a blue book containing the notes exchanged between Sweden and Russia would be forwarded to the UN at New York for distribution among members. Such distribution is often a preliminary to formal submission of charges before the assembly.

The note demanding that Russia curb Soviet spy activity in Sweden referred to the six-week trial ended the past week, in which two Swedish Communists were given life sentences and four others sentenced to up to seven years. They were convicted of turning over vital secrets of Sweden's northern military defenses to the Reds.

AN IRISHMAN was the first to stake a claim as the world's first uranium rush began in this town 980 miles northwest of Regina. Ten minutes after the recorder's office opened yesterday, in tents set up as field offices, Patrick Hughes of County Down, Ireland, filed his claim.

He led the way for some 1000 eager prospectors, flushed with the hope of striking it rich in an area in the Beaver Lodge country near Lake Athabaska, northwest Saskatchewan.

HUGHES, STARTING out on foot, transferred to a boat and later to a waiting aircraft which parachuted him down 13 miles from Uranium City.

The final leg of his trek was made by taxi which rushed him to the office ahead of prospectors from all parts of the continent.

Pooch Finds Pussy Was Porky

Rex, a Boston terrier puppy, shows the royal reception he received after snapping at a porcupine in the woods, possibly in the mistaken belief it was a cat. Veterinarian Edward A. Blake, in Gardner, Mass., removed over 2000 quills from the pup's head and inside the mouth while Rex was under an anesthetic. With eyes still puffy Rex is pictured after being de-quilled, at right, sadder and— we hope—wiser.

One Man Surrenders In 'Suicide' Drama

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (P)—One of two men accused of faking a "suicide" drama as a publicity stunt surrendered to police today. But he still denied that he offered a young mother $500 to pretend she was going to leap from the sixth floor landing of a Washington building the past Thursday.

Roland Bennett, 27, posted a $500 bond to insure his appearance in Municipal court tomorrow.

He and Maynard H. (Snuffy) Smith, 41, a medal of honor winner, are charged with making false reports to police and firemen—an offense punishable by a $500 fine or 10 days in jail.

Smith crawled out on the ledge, seized the young woman and pulled her back inside the building while firemen spread nets and crowds gaped on the street six stories below.

It looked like another act of heroism until Mrs. Ernestine Lucille Whomble, 21, told the authorities that Bennett and Smith got her to pull the stunt to further Smith's political ambitions. She said he wanted to be governor of Virginia.

Parents Fly to Midwest Bedside of Injured Son

Mr. and Mrs. James Brower, of Port Providence road, Mont Clare, are at the bedside of their son, James, 20, in a Sidney, Neb., hospital today. The youth was injured in an automobile crash in that city Saturday.

His parents flew to Sidney from Philadelphia Sunday shortly after hospital officials telephoned them. Their informant did not say how extensive Brower's injuries were, but said he had been unconscious five hours after the accident, in which four of his fellow airmen stationed at Warren Air Base, Cheyenne, Wyo., were involved.

Ike Outlines Program for Peace, Equality

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower tonight outlined a ten-point program for America—a program aimed at lasting peace, honesty in Government, equality for all citizens and loyalty in Federal service.

The Republican presidential nominee also called for protection of the earnings and the savings of the people "from a double toll of high prices and high taxes."

And he appealed to old comrades in arms—the veterans of the nation's wars—to help him put the program into effect.

In notes prepared for a speech at the annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW)—his first major address since the Republicans chose him as their standard bearer July 11—the General set forth these "positive objectives" for America:

"1. To increase America's strength: Spiritual, creative and material."

"2. To win a just and lasting peace secured by the strength of the free world."

"3. TO BUILD a prosperity not based on war."

"4. To make America's promise, of equality a living fact for every American."

"5. To strengthen and to extend measures for the security and welfare of the people."

"6. To protect the earnings and savings of the people from a double toll of high prices and high taxes."

"7. To serve the worthy interests of every group of our people, yet make the test of each policy: Is it good for America?"

"8. To restore honesty to Government."

"9. To insure, by means which guard our basic rights, that those who serve in Government are Americans of loyalty and dedication."

"10. To revive in every American the faith that he can achieve a better future for himself and his family."

EISENHOWER SAID: "These points are not a program of impossibilities."

"Everyone of them is within our reach—provided only that you and I accept our responsibilities as citizens—and do our civic duty—with the same dedication and courage with which you did your duty as soldiers."

Eisenhower came to the VFW encampment in Los Angeles' Coliseum to receive that organization's first annual Bernard M. Baruch award, named for the elder statesman who has served as an advisor to presidents since the days of World War One.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5 (AP)—Fourteen California Communist leaders were convicted today on a Federal indictment charging that they conspired to teach and advocate overthrowing the Government by force and violence.

They are in jail pending a hearing at 11 a. m. tomorrow on a defense motion urging U. S. Judge William C. Mathes to reverse the unanimous verdict of the jury of eight women and four men.

The jurors had the case under deliberation from Thursday afternoon until late this morning. Their verdict against each defendant was unanimous.

MISSISSIPPIANS TAKE VOTE TO BACK GEN. IKE

'Dissatisfied Democrats' Meet, Pick Committee For Eisenhower Demos

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 5 (AP)—About 500 Mississippians, most of them States rights Democrats, voted today in an informal convention to support Gen. Dwight Eisenhower in the presidential race.

The "delegates," people who responded to an advertised call for a meeting of "dissatisfied Democrats," selected a 21-man steering committee to lead the Democrats-for-Eisenhower movement in the State.

A resolution, adopted with only one dissenting vote, said the group would support the Republican nominee either as a States rights Democrat or an independent but left until later the mechanics of how it would be done.

The resolution said the group would wait until the state Democratic convention—to which some of the "dissatisfied Democrats" are delegates—holds a post-Chicago session Aug. 18.

FORMER LT. Gov. Sam Lumpkin, who visited General Eisenhower in Denver over the weekend, said he would present the General's name to the Mississippi Democratic convention for endorsement. Apparently the Eisenhower Democrats would wait the outcome of that move before determining whether to put Eisenhower's name before the voters as a States' righter or an independent.

The convention today followed the state's rights line started in 1948 when the Mississippi delegation bolted the National Democratic convention over President Truman's civil rights program.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NR) said today he expects Governor Adlai Stevenson and Sen. John Sparkman to "accept the full letter and spirit" of the Democratic platform's civil rights plank.

Lehman, who helped draft the plank at the Chicago convention, said in a statement he believes the civil rights plank is "much stronger than it was in 1948." The 1948 plank helped fire a Southern revolt which cost President Truman 39 Dixie electoral votes.

This year's plank calls for legislative efforts to establish equal opportunities, including employment, but does not mention specifically the proposed Fair Employment Practices commission (FEPC) which Lehman favors.

Lehman, describing the plank as "realistic," defended it in response to a statement issued by 16 Republican leaders earlier in the week. They said election of the GOP ticket headed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would speed the enactment of Federal FEPC legislation.

Lehman, who helped draft the plank at the Chicago convention, said in a statement he believes the civil rights plank is "much stronger than it was in 1948." The 1948 plank helped fire a Southern revolt which cost President Truman 39 Dixie electoral votes.

This year's plank calls for legislative efforts to establish equal opportunities, including employment, but does not mention specifically the proposed Fair Employment Practices commission (FEPC) which Lehman favors.

Lehman, describing the plank as "realistic," defended it in response to a statement issued by 16 Republican leaders earlier in the week. They said election of the GOP ticket headed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower would speed the enactment of Federal FEPC legislation.

Grim-faced rescue workers remove a body from one of the two Greyhound buses which collided head-on at the top of a hill near Waco, Tex. At least 32 persons perished and 25 were injured in the tragic accident. Several hours after the crash nine passengers had not been accounted for.

Only 12 in Bus Wreck Positively Identified

WACO, Tex., Aug. 5 (AP)—The so-called Air Force officials in Washington task of identifying the deadling to protest strongly. Shortly in Monday's flame-wrapped collision, the morgue was opened on today. Only 12 of the at least 28 fatalities have been positively identified.

Three others of the 28 have been listed as dead but their bodies have not been identified.

Twenty-five persons suffered injuries. Hospital authorities today removed all from the critical list.

A fighting editor today broke down an attempt by civilian employees of the military to prevent reporters and other authorities from entering the morgue at Compton funeral home, where the bodies were taken.

WACO TIMES-HERALD Executive Editor Sam Wood immediately said Wood to apologize.

Many of the victims were servicemen. In accidents resulting in injury or death to armed services personnel, military officers often taken responsibility for releasing names of casualties. That was the reason given for closing the morgue to non-military personnel today.

Said Wood, "This is no longer a matter of military courtesy. Too many civilians are involved. We'll play ball with them (military authorities) on their military posts but not in this situation."

Vacationing With Mercury Readers

By THE VACATION EDITOR of The Mercury Staff

Spending a week at Atlantic City are Betty Garner, 406 Jefferson avenue; Mary Ann Will, Douglassville; Sonia Cimbalista, 219 North Washington street; Shirley Corbett, 32 East Sixth street; Ann Ciori, Stowe; and Lois West.

The girls sent a greeting card to The Mercury showing scenes from the world vacation spot.

Piers, Atlantic City

LOIS AND RUTH Roberts, of Elverson RD 1, wrote from Wells-ville, N. Y., that their vacation has been pleasant so far.

A colonial style library is shown on the colored picture postcard sent from the New York City.

UP NORTH in New England attending the Oriole's convention in Boston, Mass., are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lazensky and their son Dannie, of Douglassville.

Their card depicted the massive South Station in Dewey Square, Boston.

FATSY JAFOLLA and Mary Weiser, both of Boyertown said, "Just arrived in New York and having a swell time."

But they found that they could not escape the heat there and added in their message, "It is really warm here."

Their postcard gave a colorful view of New York's skyline as seen from Hudson Bay.

Truck With Dynamite Blown to Smithereens

CRAIGS, Aug. 5 (AP) — A truck loaded with dynamite blew up today in this tiny mine-farm community, damaging 10 homes—the entire town—and injuring nine persons. No deaths were reported.

State police, rushed to the scene from nearby Mahanoy City and Hazleton, said the truck driver, Frank Barnhardt, 23, West Pittston, Pa., had leaped safely off the truck before the terrific blast that was heard for miles around.

The driver suffered injury when bowled over by the concussion.

This Schuylkill county town of some 39 residents was in turmoil.

The truck was blown to bits and a huge hole was torn in the Brantville-Mahanoy City highway.

Trees and brush within 150 feet of the explosion were burned and blackened by the fire started by the blast.

Witnesses said the truck caught fire near a brewery. The driver, aware of the danger, leaped out of the cab and fought desperately to prevent the flames from spreading.

As he fled the scene the truck exploded. Black smoke curled high into the air and debris was splattered over a wide radius.

Safe Burglar Held in County Jail for Hearing

The Baltimore burglar who stole $100 in cash from a Boss Manufacturing company safe, Palm, this past Saturday morning is being held in Montgomery county prison, Norristown, for a hearing next Monday.

Kenneth R. Dries, formerly of Emmaus, was held without bail by Justice of the Peace Charles J. Gorman, Norristown, yesterday morning.

Dries is charged with burglary and violation of the uniform firearms act.

Corp Donald C. Bearcraft of the Jeffersonville State police lodged charges at yesterday's hearing.

DRIES DECLINED to testify at the brief hearing.

Bearcraft testified the prisoner was taken into custody by Carl Ziegler and Vincent McGlone of the Jeffersonville barracks at 2:40 o'clock Saturday morning, less than an hour after $100 had been taken from the safe of the glove manufacturing firm.

Dries was armed with a .32 caliber revolver, holding five bullets, when he was stopped by police near the Ross company. He was driving a 1941 station wagon bearing Maryland license plates.

Police are continuing the probe to determine whether Dries is implicated in other safe robberies in the area since this past June 21.

Sgt. Thomas Devlin, officer in charge of the Jeffersonville barracks, also attended yesterday's hearing. He is working with Bearcraft on the investigation.

Three School Buses Flunk Summer Exam

Three out of nine school buses inspected on Monday by Jeffersonville State police Pfc. Martin R. Kiggins, flunked the special annual check-up at the examination point on North Hanover street.

Kiggins reported the buses were failed for leaking exhaust pipes, since the state requires exhaust fumes to be carried entirely to the rear of the vehicles, for bald tires and for broken spring ends sticking up in the seat cushions.

Both Pottstown school buses owned by Oscar E. Yerged failed the inspection.

One Douglass township school bus, out of the three inspected from there Monday also failed.

Other buses inspected were three from Lower Pottsgrove and one from Upper Pottsgrove townships.

Thinks Dad Has Chance

Major John Eisenhower, the son of the Republican Presidential nominee, is pictured during a press conference in Korea where he commented, in reply to a newsmen's question, that he thought his father "had a reasonable chance" of being elected. The 30-year-old officer is attached to the Third Division.

Fast Pace of Industry Needs Youth, Bush Says

Industry does not shun older workers because it wants to, C. Roy Bush, personnel director of the Doehler-Jarvis Die Casting corporation, told 52 fellow members at their weekly dinner meeting in the Elks' home last night.

He said older workers have valuable experience, but there is more room in the speeded up industry of today for youths than for older men. Bush added that there is a larger number of older workers meal than younger men available and all the older men cannot be fitted into the jobs open.

Bush's brief address was one of a series of "classification" talks given by club members and personnel to the fields in which they are employed.

North Branch Group Plans Jail Services

North Branch Christian Endeavor will hold services at the Chester county jail, West Chester, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It was announced at a meeting last night at the home of Mrs. John Sandiford, East Nantmeal.

Mrs. Thomas Gibbons, president, appointed a committee to prepare the vespers service Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the East Nantmeal Baptist church. The committee includes Mary Lippincott, Mrs. Sandiford, and Evans Downing.

A committee was also appointed to plan a youth rally at the Pugh town Baptist church on Sept. 9. Making the arrangements are Lee House, the Rev. J. H. Bixler, the Rev. Thomas Gibbons, and Mrs. Sandiford.

Six to Attend School For Fire-Fighters

Six members of the Norco Fire company will attend the Chester county Fire School, Sept. 14, 21 and 28. It was reported at the company's August meeting last night.

The men are John J. Yonkovich, Richard Leinbach, Monroe Fox, Jacob Borneman, Gerald Hatfield and Sherman Hess. The firemen will be instructed in first aid and methods of fighting all type fires.

Yonkovich, chairman of the company's July 23 and 26 festival, expressed his appreciation for the support of North Coventry residents at the festival, which netted the company's building fund $700.

The 35 members present at the meeting accepted 42 new members recruited during the festival. Vice President Leinbach presided in the absence of President Irwin Pike.

Berks Supervisors Vote To Pave Township Roads

Union township (Berks county) board of supervisors last night moved to macadamize sections of two dirt roads sometime this month, at its August meeting in the home of President Levi Kulp.

Sections to be surfaced include 2 of a mile of McMullens road in Geigertown and 5 of a mile of Weidner road in Douglassville.

The board also voted to apply to the county commissioners for $300 each to three municipalities for such purposes. Whether or not the county will receive a grant depends on how its needs compare with those of other municipalities.

Services will be held Friday afternoon from a funeral home at 247 Penn street, Reading.

Interment will be made in Swamp Lutheran church cemetery.

Child Cries at Cruelty

"No."

"Are you a good girl or bad girl in school?" the attorney asked, smiling.

"I'm good . . . sometimes."

SHE DEMONSTRATED how Mrs. Trethewey had pulled her hair. She said she'd demonstrate down across the buttocks. . . He on Sager's left forearm how the teacher had pinched her, but the child added, "But I won't pinch you hard."

The attorney asked the child why she'd been punished. "Be- cause I didn't know my reading," she said once. "Because I didn't know my poems," she said another time.

As tears started coming to the little girl's eyes, Sager asked her quietly, "Do you want to go back to Mrs. Trethewey's class?"

The child burst into tears. Between sobs, she said firmly, "No."

"Why don't you want to go back to Mrs. Trethewey's class?" Sager asked. There was no answer at first, so he added, "Go on, tell me dear."

"Because . . . I . . . uh . . . because she'll hit me again."

HOFFMAN, WHOSE cross-examining had seriously weakened the testimony of many previous witnesses, had less complete success with the little girl.

"When you were a good girl," he said, "and did your work, did you have any trouble (with Mrs. Trethewey)?"

"No."

When her hair was pulled, he said, "You weren't hurt that time, were you?"

"Hurt?" echoed the child, then said, "No."

A few minutes later, Hoffman said confidently, "All she did then was pull your hair."

"Yes," the child answered to this innocent-sounding question, then added thoughtfully, "And pinch me . . . and putting me up and down in the seat."

"But she didn't hurt you then, did she?" the defense attorney asked.

"Yes."

BEFORE THE star witness left, Hoffman had her admit that she had not been hurt enough to be forced to miss any school.

Dusco's attack on the parents bringing the cruelty charges was made before testimony was resumed.

Picking his words carefully, and speaking in a loud, firm voice, the vice president of the board said in part:

"We don't need relaxed discipline. We need more of it."

"We have some children who should be in reform school, and their parents should be horse-whipped."

"We have some people who are ready to crucify every blessed one of them (township teachers). The attack against Mrs. Trethewey was, he charged, "incited by a few little tin gods . . . by a few women whose tongues are fastened in the middle and loose at both ends."

SAGER, WHOSE enforced calm yesterday was in sharp contrast to his loud anger at the first session, asked quietly, "Don't you think I'm wasting my time here?"

"Yes," Dusco said loudly, "I know you are! I knew it from the beginning!"

Dusco said most board members had studied all the charges long ago, and found them wanting.

Later, Dusco made a motion, that the whole case be dropped. Baker T. Grish, board secretary, seconded it promptly, although he already had announced that he will not vote on the final issue because he is related to two complaining parents.

This motion got lost in the maze of a three-way legal argument on other points among Body, Sager and Hoffman.

OTHER WITNESSES yesterday included:

Russell E. Yorgey, Boyertown RD 2, father of Daniel Yorgey, now 8. The father said that in 1936 his son "had black and blue marks across the (right) kidney . . . He said she'd demonstrate down across the buttocks. . . He said that he didn't know a word (in a reading lesson), that she Mrs. Trethewey lost her patience and hit him."

On cross-examination, Hoffman implied strongly the marks were caused by the boy's sliding down caused by the boy's sliding down she said once. "Because I didn't know my poems," she said another time.

Mrs. Thomas G. Long, Boyertown RD 1. She said she took her son, Charles, out of the Colebrookdale school because he was made ill and nearly hysterical during the first three weeks of school the past year, when he was in Mrs. Trethewey's room.

Mrs. Long admitted that her child never told her what happened in school to cause his reactions.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Brady, Boyertown RD 2, who took their 6-year old son, William, out of the Colebrookdale school after he had spent about two months in Mrs. Trethewey's room.

Mrs. Brady said her son became ill and highly nervous from being forced to stand in a corner for long periods.

Brady said he stopped by the school and found his son forced to stay inside at recess.

Whenever they drove their son by the school to go shopping in Pottstown, Mrs. Brady said, "He would crawl on the floor in the back of the car . . . He would remain there in fear."

ON CROSS - EXAMINATION, Hoffman introduced an evidence a brief but cordial note from Mrs. Brady to Mrs. Trethewey, thanking the teacher for assistance with her son. Mrs. Brady said this was merely a "bread-and-butter" note of thanks about one specific problem.

As did most of the other witnesses, Brady became involved in a heated argument with Hoffman.

Mrs. Esther Plank, Boyertown RD 2, a vocational counselor at Weidner Memorial School for Crippled Children, Philadelphia. She said she had given tests to five of the children with whom Mrs. Trethewey is accused of having serious trouble.

Mrs. Plank said all five had good intelligence quotients and were not the kind of children who ordinarily would create disciplinary problems in a schoolroom.

Mrs. Plank testified that the community expected Mrs. Trethewey to be dismissed and the entire school board to resign.

Last night, Mrs. Plank added, "The hearing is not being conducted according to the State Teacher Tenure act."

She declared that the school should have contacted the county superintendent of schools, who would bring in a representative of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction.

"Who was that signed by?" Pottstown Attorney Louis Sager asks Russell E. Yorgey, one of the parents he is representing in the cruelty case against Mrs. Mary H. Trethewey. Yorgey replies, "Dr. (J. G.) Shade." The physician's report, which Yorgey is testifying about, is to the effect that Yorgey's little son, Daniel, was bruised severely. Yorgey contended that Mrs. Trethewey did the bruising.

turned to her home in Douglassville.

Mary Ellen Souders, her cousin, brought her to the playground and introduced her to the children who looked her immediately.

Hillcrest is still looking for talent at the recreation area to appear in the finale of the playgrounds next week, the last week of playground activities.

Those who have already volunteered to appear in the show include Philip Sotters, Mary K. Lochwood, Mary E. Souders, Billy Souders, Judy Nager, Virginia and Ronnie Bailey, Stanley Miller and Carol Landis.

THE BOYS and girls at Tot Lot playground played a complicated game called "This thread follows the needle." The children form a line and the person at the head of it is the needle, while the other boys and girls are the thread.

The needle weaves in and out in such a manner as to put the children in position to look like they are criss-crossed as a regular sewing stitch.

Playing the intricate game were Judy and Mary Kay Grebe, Judy Sater, Dorothy Sheffelt, Bruce and Bill Yergey and Dewey Fry.

pinned behind the wheel, and Turidde Lancia, 40, who was thrown out of the car. The couple lived in Phoenix, Arizona.

MRS. WALL and her step-son were taken by ambulance to Good Samaritan hospital, Kearney. Early this morning, Mrs. Wall's condition was described as critical. She suffered multiple fractures of her arms and legs, rib fractures, and possible internal injuries.

Jack Jr. escaped with cuts of the forearms and face. He was too dazed to describe what happened.

Nebraska Safety Patrolman Francis Dvorak, who investigated the accident, said he believed one of the cars had tried to make a pass on the highway, although the accident site is free of curves. Another possibility, he added, was that one of the cars had skidded off a soft shoulder of the road.

Mrs. Wall had left Pottstown the past Saturday morning on the automobile trip to the West coast. She had been home for 10 days, after working as a nurse for the past year at Fort Bragg, N. C.

She graduated from Pottstown High school in 1938, and received her training at the Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia. She joined the Army Nurse corps as a lieutenant in 1943, and was discharged in 1945.

She MET her husband in the service, and they were married on Okinawa in 1946, prior to her discharge. Mrs. Wall has accompanied her husband to his various posts since then, including Fort Bragg.

When Capt. Wall was assigned to Japan in Sept. 1951, she stayed on at the post as a civilian nurse, waiting for clearance to join him overseas.

After leaving Pottstown on Saturday, she stopped at Indianapolis, Ind., to pick up her step-son, who had been visiting with his mother.

Mrs. Wall is a daughter of Jennie (Stauffer) and the late Fred Bewley. Mrs. Bewley and her son, Gerald R., reside at 478 Franklin street.

Matches in Birds' Nest Cause House Roof Fire

NEWHALL, Calif., Aug. 5 (P)—The county fire department had this one for the birds today: Sparrows caused a $250 roof fire at the home of Guy Phillips in Lancaster yesterday.

Chief Pierre Daries of Newhall Engine company 78, Los Angeles county fire department, explained in his report:

Careful examination showed that there was a sparrow's nest containing burned matches under the eaves of the Phillips house. The birds must have carried the matches to the nest, possibly scraped one or more and ignited them.

When a reporter asked how come the matches didn't burn up, too, Chief Daries said the nest and its contents simply smoldered and went out, while the ignited portions of the roof blazed merrily.

Water Department Begins Work on South Hills Main

The Pottstown water department began laying a water main on South Hills boulevard yesterday, it was reported by Dow I. Sears, advisor to Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden.

The department will put in a 6-inch main running about 275 feet on South Hill boulevard from Oakdale to Beechwood streets.

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By LARRY DAVIS

PERSONS who are edgy about the number 13 would not envy Roland E. Hamel. For twice in his lifetime at least, the number has had significance for him.

Nine years ago he was a member of Crew 13 of a U.S. bomber outfit in China. More recently he has lived at 1313 Queen street.

But Hamel, who is assistant manager for the J. C. Penney company store here, entertains no notions about number superstition. In fact, it never occurred to him that he should think about it one way or the other.

Hamel is a relative newcomer to Pottstown, having arrived in the borough the past December and establishing his home in January. But in the eight months he has had an opportunity to observe the community and its people. He is solid on both counts. He has but one grievance: the humidity.

"Take away the humidity, or whatever you call it, and I'd be perfectly satisfied," he laments.

He has reason to be annoyed. Most of his life has been spent in New England, where he says humidity is no source of discomfort.

Hamel was born Feb. 15, 1918 ("I guess you could call me a war baby") in Berlin, N. H., a community of 20,000 in the foothills of the White mountains. His father, Herbert E. Hamel, was a retail grocer and bleach manufacturer. The parents now live in Hartford, Conn.

The slightly built, 145-pound salesman, comes from what is described in the literature as "sturdy, French-Canadian stock," a distinction he shares with his wife and "teen age sweetheart," the former Geraldine LaRochelle. Hence the spelling of his middle name, Edmond.

As children, Mr. and Mrs. Hamel lived on the same block, played together and went to elementary and high school together. But it wasn't until his senior year that they became serious about each other. She was the class secretary.

Following his graduation in 1937, Hamel joined the Penney chain at Berlin as a part time clerk and stock boy. During the week he received and marked incoming merchandise and on week ends came "out on the floor to learn how to be a salesman."

After two years, he was placed in charge of the men's shoes and work clothes department. Here he did well and shortly was transferred to the Penney store at Lewistown, Me., where he became head of the men's furnishings department.

In January 1942, he enlisted in the Army Air Corps and trained as a flight engineer for a B-24 Bomber. Fourteen months later, he flew the famous Himalayan "hump" into Kungming, China.

It was here that he joined Crew 13 of the 374th Bombardment Squadron, 308th Bombardment Group, which was an element of Chennault's famous 14th Air Force. His first five missions, in fact, were escorted by members of the general's Flying Tigers.

For a year, Hamel flew 104 combat missions over French Indo-China and Burma to earn the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters. Upon his return to the United States in April 1944, he was assigned to an air intelligence unit at Tuscon, Ariz.

Out of service in September 1945, Hamel rejoined the Penney company and became assistant manager in Lewistown, Me. In March 1951, he was transferred to Levittown, Pa., as assistant manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamel, who were married in 1941, have three children, Patricia Ann, 7; Roland Jr., 5; and David, 17 months. For the entertainment of the youngsters, they also have "Spotty," a friendly dog of undetermined age and ancestry.

Blue eyed and brown haired, Hamel enjoys fishing and hunting. So far, he has tasted the rush of opening day trout and finds it a far cry from the lonely angling with which he is familiar.

There was a day when 35-year-old William G. (Bill) Lamoreaux had a lot of time for baseball. But now he is occupied with taking care of his home on Mervine road, Pottstown RD 4, and tending to his service station on High street at Moser road. When he's fulfilled these two obligations at the end of the day, there just isn't time left to do anything else.

Lamoreaux inherited his euphonious name from French ancestors who emigrated to the United States before the turn of the century. He was born in Swoyersville, May 24, 1917, the fourth in a family of five children. His father, the late William B. Lamoreaux, was a stationary engineer for the Lehigh Valley Coal company prior to his death 12 years ago.

Looking the part of an athlete today, Lamoreaux was graduated from Swoyersville High school in 1935 where he was active for four years in three major sports. He quarterbacked the football team which twice became champions; he played shortstop for the baseball squad which won top honors four years in a row, and he ran the 100 and 220-yard dashes on the track team.

During the Summers, not because there was any special need for the money by the family but simply because he wanted extra spending cash, Lamoreaux worked as a soap mill stock clerk. He held the job full time for a year after his graduation.

Somewhat undecided on what he wanted to do in the way of employment, he left the soap mill and went to work in the carpenter shop for a mining concern. Then, he landed the opportunity to play semi-professional baseball.

From 1936 to 1939 he went the circuit with the semi-pros, playing his favorite shortstop position with Berwick, a Class C club, for two seasons; then with Elmira in the New York Pennsylvania league (now the Eastern league) and back with Berwick.

Semi-pro baseball, though, had its drawbacks. "I decided," he admits, "that there was too much knocking around and it was time I began thinking of settling down."

That was in 1941, a year in which he accomplished two important moves. He married the sweetheart of his teens, the former Martha Hughes, of Avoca, and he moved to Pottstown to work for Ray Quigley who then operated the filling station where Lamoreaux is presently located.

The year 1941 also was a fateful one in that he was drafted into the Army. His itinerary for the last six months of that year included New Cumberland, Fort Bragg, N.C., Camp Kilmer, N.J. and points east, particularly England.

He went overseas with an artillery outfit and in the British Isles received training as an artillery air pilot and observer. On D-Day, June 6, 1944, he flew a Piper cub across the English channel.

Lamoreaux is credited with more than 160 sorties for which he received the air medal and three oak leaf clusters. He came through unscathed, except for an injured back which he received as the result of bailing out of his plane when it was hit during the Battle of the Bulge. In that operation, he was pinned down with the infantry for four days.

But since his days observing for the First Army he hasn't gone into the air. "And I haven't any intentions of going up in the future, either," he says with lips pursed in a fixed expression of finality.

Lamoreaux is five feet eight and one-half inches tall and weighs 175 pounds. He has brown, wavy hair and a pair of eyes that defy a color description. But his six-year-old daughter, Karyl Lee, insists that they are cat-eyes.

When he was separated from service in 1945, Lamoreaux went back to the same old stand working for Louis P. Young and again for Quigley. He took over on his own in 1949.

NINTH BROTHER —

brother, Arthur S. Jr., 31, now of Salisbury, Md., took Louis' place, and served from Feb. 25, 1941, to Oct. 1945, stationed in the South Pacific.

Oscar, 33, now of Tallahassee, Fla., joined the Air Corps on June 8, 1942, and served in India and Arabia as staff sergeant in charge of a ground crew. He was discharged in Oct. 1945, but stayed in the reserves and was recalled as an instructor from Sept. 1950 to August 1951.

William, 26, of 266 Schuykill road, Kearsburg, enlisted in the Navy on July 1, 1942, and took part in the invasions of Sicily, Italy and North Africa, and was discharged in December, 1945. Struck by a piece of shrapnel during the invasion of Italy, he was the only brother to be wounded.

Albert, 28, of Road B, Hilldale, was called to service on Jan. 28, 1942, and served with the Army medical corps in Europe. He was discharged on March 23, 1946.

JOHN, 26, JOINED the Merchant Marine after he was rejected by the other services because he had suffered from a bone ailment as a child. He plans to make the Merchant Marine his career.

Donald, 24, of Road B, Hilldale, joined the Navy in September, 1944, after his father gave him written permission because he was under age. He re-enlisted when his term expired in 1946, and was discharged in 1949.

The eighth son, Frederick, 22, is a corporal in the Sixth Infantry regiment and has been stationed in Germany for the past two years.

RAYMOND'S MOTHER wanted to call off a trip to Salisbury, Md., when his notice arrived from the draft board Saturday, but he told her not to worry.

"I'm quitting work Friday so me and my wife can spend a couple days at the shore before I have to leave," he said.

Although Raymond has never roamed very far from Pottstown, he is now looking forward to seeing more of the country and perhaps the world.

"I don't like to travel without my wife," he says, like an old married man.

junk, including old clothing, pots and pans, mattresses, newspapers, books and assorted household items that the 3-foot, 2-inch hermit had picked up in his customary collection tours in the Pottstown area.

In December, 1947, the combined forces of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the Pottstown health board, and the borough fire department had forced him to abandon his packing-box home on Berks street.

The SPCA said Urr's 11 dogs were living in unsanitary conditions. An investigation showed that the animals and Urr were living in a packing-box jammed with countless items, and the place was condemned as a health menace and fire hazard.

WHEN ARRESTED, Urr had $926 in cash in his tattered clothing, but he had only a few dollars when he entered the hospital the past month.

The few friends Urr made in the Pottstown area were persons who could speak Hungarian, as Urr knew only broken English.

One of his friends said last night, "Urr never became adjusted to America. He was always dreaming of returning to his home land, and tried to save enough money to do so. He never seemed to get around to it."

No relatives of Urr are known to be living in the United States. His body is being held at a funeral home at 112 North Washington street.

New Fall Hat Collection Reminiscent of Twenties

By MARY JANE FEGELY
(Mercury Society Editor)

Despite the warm weather and the seemingly endless days of sweltering even when attired in the least amount of clothing the law allows, Fall is just around the corner... and with it comes a variety of exciting new hats for millady.

The smart woman is planning her new wardrobe accessories now, with an eye cast on the newest, smartest hats to dress up last year's suit or coat.

As far as color is concerned, she'll have nothing to worry about. Just to name a few, there are topaz, exciting red, torch red and cordial... the very sound of which makes any hat seem "special."

LOVELY SHADES of warm rust, green, gold, brown and blue also can be had without the slightest effort. A tour of one of Pottstown's leading millinery shops, however, proved that no one color will predominate as far as hats are concerned, and that the old and smart standby, black, will be just as good this year as it has always been.

The shapes are almost as varied as the colors.

Digging back through the files, the designers have come up with a beauty. It's the modified version of the head-huggers of the Roaring Twenties, fitting close to the head, with a very deep crown and medium brim on some, these hats cover the hairline at times, showing only the face.

This means that a woman has to be careful of her makeup and if she can, hide those tell-tale lines.

Of course for early Fall there are the big brimmed hats in rich fabrics of velvet, velour and felt. These are rather standard—the fitted crown, neat little bow in the back, and large brim, which carries the fashion news. Instead of plain, circular brims, they have been notched, scalloped and cut into points at the center and sides to give a new look.

The Dutch have influenced American designers, and the charming results are cloche hats, fitting much like the "Twenties" type hats, with the brims cut wide and away from the lower part of the face, flaring out in Dutch cap fashion. Some of the gay and amusing models feature just one flare or one pointed flap lying close to the face for a provocative effect.

IT'S FAREWELL and good riddance to those beanie and plain hats that simply sat upon one's head, not even keeping it warm in their place, for those who don't like too much hat, have come part little things cut in asymmetrical lines.

That good old standby—the French beret, which can be shaped and moulded into dozens of different styles—is still in vogue. However, some of them are spangled and bejeweled in an eye-catching manner for evening wear. Worn straight, on the head, flat on top with the rounded sides puffed out, beret is transformed into a smart version of hubby's golf cap.

perched on a head in such a manner that it appears Madam will suddenly take off into the air as soon as a gust of wind blows?

That's all been taken care of by chin straps, which have also returned to the scene of fashion.

Half-sailors, too, will be good this season. This hat is simply the standard sailor type minus the back of the brim. With the usual design in mind, milliners have taken this number and without a quail have widened the front and sides of the brim so that the hat is flat, wide and although appearing floppy, have plenty of stiffness to keep them neat looking.

FOR THE High school and college girl, who needs and demands warmth, and shys away from unflattering bandannas, there are smart looking peek-a-boos in every shade imaginable. Mother would find these handy to slip on when taking the children to school on a cold morning, as they are simply slipped over the head covering everything from the middle of the head to the shoulders, ending in a scarf which is tucked into the coat.

Girl Scout Troop Makes Plans to Hold Banquet

Plans were made to hold a Mother and Daughter banquet at a meeting of the Girl Scout Troop 20 held Monday night on the lawn of the Sanatoga Grange.

The girls also discussed a possible trip to a television show. Games were played and the meeting was closed with the friendship circle.

Members attending were: Alma Miller, Linda Spaid, Daryl Detwiler, Janet Levensood, Beverly Swavelly, Jane Clayton, Patty Welsh, Barbara Buchert, Brenda Brendlinger, Jean Brendlinger, Martha Donahue, Patsy Morali and Kay Steigeroalt.

Leaders present were Mrs. Alice Spaid, Mrs. June Levensood and Mrs. Ruth Detwiler. Friscilla Heisler, Rosa Ellis and Carol Ann Long were visitors.

IT'S FAREWELL and good riddance to those beanie and plain hats that simply sat upon one's head, not even keeping it warm in their place, for those who don't like too much hat, have come part little things cut in asymmetrical lines.

That good old standby—the French beret, which can be shaped and moulded into dozens of different styles—is still in vogue. However, some of them are spangled and bejeweled in an eye-catching manner for evening wear. Worn straight, on the head, flat on top with the rounded sides puffed out, beret is transformed into a smart version of hubby's golf cap.

perched on a head in such a manner that it appears Madam will suddenly take off into the air as soon as a gust of wind blows?

That's all been taken care of by chin straps, which have also returned to the scene of fashion.

Half-sailors, too, will be good this season. This hat is simply the standard sailor type minus the back of the brim. With the usual design in mind, milliners have taken this number and without a quail have widened the front and sides of the brim so that the hat is flat, wide and although appearing floppy, have plenty of stiffness to keep them neat looking.

FOR THE High school and college girl, who needs and demands warmth, and shys away from unflattering bandannas, there are smart looking peek-a-boos in every shade imaginable. Mother would find these handy to slip on when taking the children to school on a cold morning, as they are simply slipped over the head covering everything from the middle of the head to the shoulders, ending in a scarf which is tucked into the coat.

If 'Bal' Has His Way Women Will Resemble Bags; Waistline Drops

PARIS, Aug. 5 (AP)—Fashion dictator Balenciaga seems to be determined to make women take to the fallen waist or midline line—even if he has to push it down their throats.

That is practically what he does in the new collection he unveiled this afternoon. Alas for the waistline: with few exceptions it has disappeared, at least at Chez Balenciaga.

Belts around the hips are fastened with big square buckles, like those favored by the Pilgrim fathers—but that isn't going to make them any more palatable for those who like belts around their waists.

BAL, AS HE is affectionately known to the fashion magazines, is out to prove himself the Picasso of the style surrealists this time. He does it with big ballooning coats that look like angry storm clouds; that is to say, they are equally black, shapeless and ugly.

The designer's creations do anything but flatter the feminine figure. They run to harsh, collarless necks, baggy hunchbacks and loose waists. One black taffeta cocktail dress has a collar right up to the neck and a full skirt tied in like a sack halfway between hips and knees.

Except for some very revealing dropped shoulder formal, Balenciaga's new clothes seem to have a strong churchly influence. Black predominates, and there are cardinal's cloaks and a corded monk's robe hostess gown—in pink satin, of all things.
